Relationships

I can say who loves and cares for me, what it means to be a family and that families are all different.

I can name different types of relationships, for example, family, friendship, online.

I can say what makes a good friend, what loneliness is, how to include others, and suggest some ways to resolve disagreements.

I can say how I am the same and different to other people, and how to treat myself and other people with respect.

I can say what bullying and hurtful behaviour are, how they might make someone feel, that they are unacceptable, and who to ask for help.

I can describe what pressure might look or feel like in a friendship or in situations with other children, and ways to resist it.

I can talk about things that matter to me, and say how to play and work with others.

I can say when it is important to ask for permission and how to ask for, give, or not give permission.

I can say what privacy means, and which body parts are private.

Health and Wellbeing

I can describe some ways to keep healthy and explain why it is important.

I can recognise and name different feelings and describe what to do if I, or others, have not-so-good feelings.

I can suggest ways to help myself and other people feel good, or feel better if not feeling good, such as sleep, regular exercise and balancing time on and offline.

I can say something that makes me special and unique, what I am good at or proud of, and how these help me feel good about myself.

I can suggest ways to manage when finding something difficult.

I can identify external body parts, how people's bodies and needs change as they grow from young to old.

I can give some examples of change and suggest some ways to manage changes such as changing class or experiencing a loss.

I can suggest some rules that keep us safe and decide if a choice is safe or unsafe for our health, including at home, online, when travelling, and in the sun.

I can say how different things people put on or in their bodies can affect them and discuss the risks and benefits of this.

Living in the Wider World

I can give some examples of rules in school or at home and say why they are important.

I can say some ways to care for the plants, animals and people around us and why this is important.

I can identify some similarities and differences between people in my school and community.

I can give some examples of groups I and other people belong to and the roles and responsibilities in these different groups.

I can state some rules for using the internet and devices safely, and recognise that not everything online is always true.

I can describe how wanting something is different from needing something.

I can say what money is, where it comes from, and how it can be looked after, saved or spent.

I can recognise that people have different strengths, identify some different jobs that people do and some skills needed for those jobs.

I can recognise when a secret should not be kept, but told to a trusted adult. I can identify types of touch that are acceptable or unacceptable, recognise the need to ask permission, and know who to tell about concerns or worries. I can recognise that some people behave differently online and say some simple ways to keep online communication safe. I know who to tell if a relationship, or the actions of someone I don't know, has made me feel uncomfortable, upset, or unsafe.	I can describe how to follow simple hygiene and dental health routines. I can list some people who help children stay safe and healthy, say how or when they can help and why it is important to ask for help. I can say how to get help in emergency situations and follow instructions to keep safe.
